DOES YOUR GROUP HAVE A VOICE?

GENERAL SERVICE REPRESENTATIVE (GSR)

"The general service representatives (G.S.R.s) of the U.S. and Canada are the very foundation of our general service structure. Through your G.S.R., you can make your group's voice heard at district meetings, at area assemblies, and eventually at the General Service Conference."

STEPS, TRADITIONS, AND CONCEPTS OF A.A.

(Reprinted with permission of A.A. World Services, Inc.)

STEPS: 7 THRU 9

7.

"Humbly asked Him to remove our shortcomings."

8.

"Made a list of all persons we had harmed, and became willing to make amends to them all."

9.

"Made direct amends to such people wherever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others."

FROM THE ORIGINAL BIG BOOK MANUSCRIPT (Step #7): "Humbly, on our knees, asked Him to remove our shortcomings — holding nothing back."

TRADITIONS: 7 THRU 9

7.

Short Form:

"Every AA group ought to be fully self-supporting, declining outside contributions."

8.

Short Form:

"Alcoholics Anonymous should remain forever nonprofessional, but our service centers may employ special workers."

9.

Short Form:

"AA, as such, ought never be organized; but we may create service boards or committees directly responsible to those they serve."

NONPROFESSIONAL (Tradition #8): "a person who is not a professional: such as someone who does not belong to or possess training in a particular profession" (Merriam-Webster Dictionary)

CONCEPTS: 7 THRU 9

7.

Short Form:

"The Charter and Bylaws of the General Service Board are legal instruments, empowering the trustees to manage and conduct world service affairs. The Conference Charter is not a legal document; it relies upon tradition and the A.A. purse for final effectiveness."

8.

Short Form:

"The trustees are the principal planners and administrators of over-all policy and finance. They have custodial oversight of the separately incorporated and constantly active services, exercising this through their ability to elect all the directors of these entities."

9.

Short Form:

"Good service leadership at all levels is indispensable for our future functioning and safety. Primary world service leadership, once exercised by the founders, Must necessarily be assumed by the trustees."

CUSTODIAL (Concept #8): "providing protective supervision and guardianship rather than seeking to improve or cure" (The Free Dictionary)

“WHAT’S NEW” FROM GSO...

September 2020—“Love and Service” Letter from GSO’s General Manager and GSO video

“Love and Service” LETTER:

Below are just a few highlights from GSO’s General Manager’s Letter:

- ♦ “The main theme of this letter is gratitude.”
- ♦ “We have put forward a new budget reforecast for the balance of 2020 that reflects a new reality and includes substantial cuts in numerous expense categories, including contracted services, professional fees and printing/cost of goods. The aim is to continue providing maximum services, with the expense reductions touching operations rather than services.”
- ♦ “Till the end of the year, the newsletters regularly published by GSO, such as Box 4-5-9, About A.A., the GSB Quarterly Report, the LIM bulletin and Sharing From Behind the Walls will be available only on aa.org or will have limited print runs, saving on production and mailing costs.”
- ♦ “...when literature sales and contributions had dipped dramatically, GSO drew down $3 million from the Reserve Fund to cover cash flow for May-July. This supported sending out International Convention refunds, as well as ensuring payroll funds for our workers.”
- ♦ “Now we are in a different place. And it says so much about our Fellowship in this extraordinary time: In May, contributions were $800,000 and in June $900,000. July has just closed, with total contributions exceeding $1.1 million dollars! Also, we are working to recover lost costs related to the International Convention through our insurance claim.”

FROM ORANGE COUNTY CENTRAL OFFICE

(As of Sept. 9, 2020):

MEETING REOPENING GUIDELINES

"Dear Friends in the Fellowship,

We know that many members are excited by the prospect of meeting in-person again. There is a temptation to rush to re-open meetings. Our Intergroup has put together suggestions and guidelines for your groups to consider when making an informed group conscience about how to re-open safely once our respective jurisdictions allow it.

These suggestions were compiled with conversations with and input from several other Intergroups and central offices across the country to determine best practices to protect A.A. members going forward.

- Traditions - we must ensure our group decisions do not negatively impact our fellow members or A.A. as a whole, and that we as individuals act in ways that ensure our common welfare. Tradition 1 tells us "Our common welfare should come first; personal recovery depends upon A.A. unity." Tradition 4 states "Each group is autonomous except in matters affecting other groups or A.A. as a whole." We have to consider the health and well-being of other A.A. members, and we need to protect the positive reputation and goodwill of A.A. in the community.
- Responsibility - Groups should continue to abide by local and government health organization guidelines for social distancing and safety (e.g., limiting the number of people into the space, facial coverings, etc.) As an organization and as individuals, we are not exceptions to the law. Our program of recovery has taught us to be responsible citizens both in A.A. and the world. While there are no 'musts' in the A.A. program, there are legal musts in the larger community. Groups need to remain within the regulations and mandates of our state.
- Community - Groups must have permission from landlords or host facilities to resume meeting on the premises—either inside or on the grounds or parking lot.
- Format - Groups may consider combining in-person meetings with Zoom meetings to form a "hybrid" meeting.

In addition to suggestions for groups to consider, there are also 'musts' that groups need to abide by to stay within the regulations and mandates of our state. While there are no 'musts' in the A.A. program, there are legal musts in the larger community. Fortunately, our programs of recovery has taught us how to be responsible citizens both in A.A. and the world.

Here are considerations for your groups to discuss:

To protect A.A., groups should be mindful of the Traditions.

Tradition 1 tells us "Our common welfare should come first; personal recovery depends upon A.A. unity."

When making group decisions, we say, "Each group is autonomous." However, the second part of Tradition 4 is just as important: "except in matters affecting other groups or A.A. as a whole."

These traditions remind us that we must ensure that our group decisions do not negatively impact our fellow members or A.A. as a whole, and that we as individuals act in ways that ensure our common welfare.

Traditions 1 and 4 are important now more than ever. We have to consider the health and well-being of other A.A. members, and we need to protect the positive reputation and goodwill of A.A. in the community."

Be sure to let both DISTRICT 5 and O.C. CENTRAL OFFICE know if your meeting group is holding virtual meetings, has gone back to 'live' meetings, or has disbanded.

"Contributions to the General Service Office support G.S.O.'s services to members and groups throughout Canada and the U.S. and help ensure that the A.A. message is carried around the world. Clergymen Discover Efficacy of A. A. In Curing Drunks

Alcoholics Anonymous Wins At*ention of Dr. Fosdick and Others

This is the second article of a series on Alcoholics Anonymous, national brotherhood of recovered alcoholics.

By ROBERT A. ERWIN.

Progress of Alcoholics Anonymous during the past 18 months, especially in many larger cities of the Nation, has attracted the interest of leaders in religion and medicine.

They have studied closely this movement that originated in New York City five years ago. They have sought to determine how, in so many cases, the Double A's have succeeded in straightening out drunks where other formulas have failed.

In Washington, the medical profession at this stage of the organization's development is more familiar with the movement than is the clergy. In other cities, however, both clergymen and doctors have appraised Alcoholics Anonymous. Since religion is the key-stone of the organization's creed, this phase will be considered today.

About the Writer:

Robert Amos Erwin was a correspondent for the Evening Star. He was born in Oct. 1908 in Evansville, Indiana, and died in Jan. 1978 in Washington, District of Columbia.

Fosdick Notes Movement.

The book, "Alcoholics Anonymous," mentioned in the first article of this series, brought a favorable and analytical review from the pen of Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, noted Baptist leader.

Dr. Fosdick declared the book merited the attention of "any one interested in the problem of alcoholism" and that it represented "the pooled experience of 100 men and women who have been victims of alcoholism, many of them declared hopeless by the experts."

"The core of the whole procedure is religious," he said, "the expulsion of the alcoholic's obsession by a power-greater-than-himself. Nowhere is the tolerance and open-mindedness of the book more evident than in its treatment of this central matter.

"They are not partisans of any particular form of organized religion, although they strongly recommend that some religious fellowship be found by their participants," continued Dr. Fosdick. "By religion, they mean an experience which they personally know and which has saved them from their slavery when psychiatry and medicine had failed.

Sure of God.

"They agree that each man must have his own way of conceiving God, but of God himself they are utterly sure, and their stories of victory in consequence are a notable addition to William James' 'Varieties of Religious Experience.'"

In its westward movement from New York, Alcoholics Anonymous took definite root in Cleveland, Ohio, and there immediately attracted the attention of the clergy.

Dr. Dillworth Lupton, pastor of Cleveland's First Unitarian Church, said in a sermon on "Alcoholism and Religion" that "I must humbly confess to having failed completely with alcoholics who have come to me for help. Many of my friends in the fields of medicine and psychiatry confess to the same feeling of futility.

"Recently, my experiences with a victim of alcoholism and later with the movement . . . first aroused my hopes, then my faith, and now I am convinced that these people have found a way out. I have seen the evidence with my own eyes," Dr. Lupton said.

Visited by Ex-Victims.

"Consider the ex-victim I have just referred to. We will call him Mr. X. He is a young man with a family. For five years he was rarely sober. He and his wife were headed straight for the divorce courts. Mr. X consented two years ago to hospitalization. While under treatment he received 18 visits from ex-victims who were members of Alcoholics Anonymous, all of them laymen who had been alcoholics themselves.

"Soon he was attending weekly meetings of the group in Cleveland. He hasn't had a drink since. For months he has been giving virtually every minute of his spare time to helping other victims."

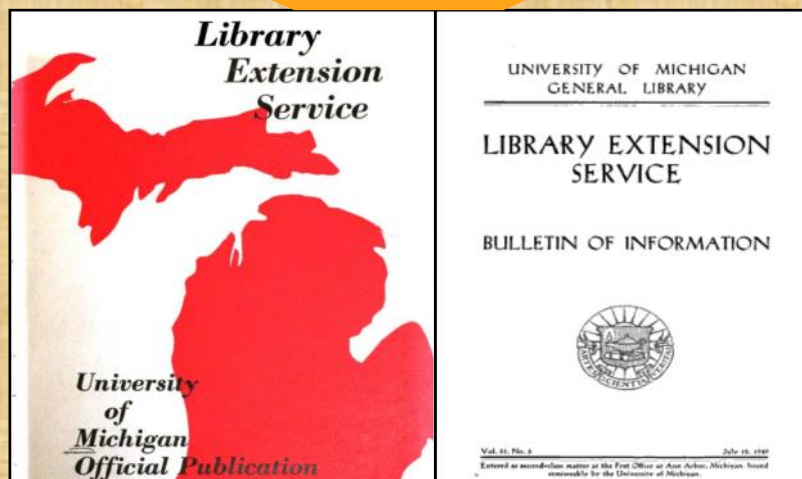

Discussing his attendance at meetings of the Cleveland A. A.'s, Dr. Lupton said he found "no excessive piety, no sensationalism, no fanaticism, no aggressive evangelism. They have no desire to make the country or anybody else dry unless he happens to be, like them, allergic to alcohol. They seem to have a good sense of humor, a quality sometimes rare in religious circles."

Alcoholics Anonymous has no formal organization. Its business is conducted through the mailing address, Alcoholics Foundation, Box 658 Church Street Annex Post Office, New York City. This also is the mail address of the Washington chapter.

The third article of this series will be in District 5's "Issue 19 - 4th Quarter - 2020" Newsletter.

Are YOU An Alcoholic?

We wouldn't try to answer that one for you, even if we could. That's for you to decide. But if you are one of that small minority of people in whom one drink of alcohol sets up an insane compulsion for another, and another and another, you might do well to talk over your problem with us. (Chances are the bird pictured here isn't an alcoholic. If he were he probably would have pawned that wrist watch long ago!)

OPEN MEETING
SUNDAY
AUG. 12

The Jackson County Group of Alcoholics Anonymous

will hold a public meeting at the

PASCAGOULA HIGH SCHOOL 3:00 P. M.

Two AA members, one man and one woman, will speak on the problem of alcoholism.

EVERYONE INVITED!

Alcoholics Anonymous is a fellowship of men and women who share their experience, strength and hope with each other that they may solve their common problem and help others to recover from alcoholism.

The only requirement for membership is an honest desire to stop drinking. AA has no dues or fees. It is not allied with any sect, denomination, politics, organization or institution, does not wish to engage in any controversy, neither endorses nor opposes any causes. Our primary purpose is to stay sober and help other alcoholics to achieve sobriety.

We are not meddlers. We do not presume to tell people how to manage their lives... Our purpose is to help people who express a desire for help. We do not call on people at the suggestion of others. We are not indifferent in such cases, but experience has taught us that it won't work... If you have a drinking problem, we invite you to attend our regular closed meetings—for alcoholics only—in the Chamber of Commerce Building, South Pascagoula Street, every Friday night at 8 o'clock.

What about ME?

Don't ask us! We don't know about you. However, we do know that alcoholism has made up on a lot of nice girls, one of whom will speak at our meeting Sunday. Why don't you drop around and hear her? (There'll be lots of non-alcoholics there and you can mix in the crowd. Your presence won't give you away!)

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS ACTIVE IN NORWAY, TOO

An attractively furnished, well-stocked clinic, designed for initial treatment, has been opened in Oslo by the Norwegian Alcoholics Anonymous. The formal opening was attended by many friends of the AA prominent in the fields of medicine and social welfare.

The clinic has beds and facilities for first treatment of 10 cases at a time, usually for no longer than two weeks. During this period, the patients are given sleep-inducing injections, and vitamin-rich food. At the end of the initial treatment, the alcoholics spend three weeks at the AA's recreation home at Feiring, in the beautiful Mjosa district. When they are sufficiently recovered to assume their normal occupations, the alcoholics receive the benefit of AA group therapy until they are considered cured.

Alcoholics Anonymous has been extremely active in Norway since the war. Publishing a monthly membership bulletin, the organization has branches in many parts of the country, whose work is coordinated by the AA's national secretary.
